

Played By the Rules,Always

But a monster screw has proved too much,

and he speaks up to the Big Guy at a chance meeting.

"Don't worry. I'll take care of it." Too simple,and our hero queasies. Sensing that:

"Hey! Just doing my job. If you kick in to the party, fine. If you don't,fine.

"And stop worrying about everything!
Not a black-white world. Adjustments can be negotiated. Politics is not the pits,but the highest good!"

Fleeing to his car while migrant clouds of sulphur dog him.
